

On 11/17/10 David Haeg contacted Marla Greenstein, the only investigator of judges for the past 21 years in Alaska, and asked her if the Alaska Commission on Judicial Conduct was going to reinvestigate Judge Murphy. Her response was not unless another judge referrers evidence to the Commission that raised questions about Judge Murphy. The exchange occurred:

HAEG: “So what you are saying is Judge Joannides made a mistake in sending - referring the evidence to you people? She should have referred it to some other judge is that what you are saying?”

GREENSTEIN: “Judge Joannides never referred anything to us.”

Yet on 8/27/10 Judge Joannides certified that she referred evidence to the Commission for “its consideration”. Evidence that not only proved Judge Murphy had lied during Marla Greenstein’s original investigation but that Marla Greenstein had falsified her own investigation to cover up for Judge Murphy.
